

The world is changing.
Education needs to change with it.
Your community can lead the way.

Use this Advocacy Kit to make the case for learning innovation in your community by convincing your peers, colleagues, and leaders to join in a collaborative effort to remake learning. You can take a leading role in this important work by spurring your community to action.

This first edition of the Remake Learning Advocacy Kit includes the following:

- Slide Decks: Pre-designed presentation slides that outline the current challenges and opportunities in teaching and learning, examples of how the Remake Learning Network is transforming education in Pittsburgh, and suggestions for how other communities can build on the Pittsburgh Model. Several slides include space for you to make your own notes and localize the content to your specific community needs and opportunities.
- Talking Points: A presentation script elaborates on each slide to guide your remarks and give your audience a better understanding of how an approach like Remake Learning would be meaningful in your community. Talking points are saved in the presentation notes field for quick reference and also provided in an editable Microsoft Word document. Both sets of talking points also include helpful tips called out by brackets.

Remember, these materials are provided as a guideline for you to prepare a presentation that works for your community. You don't need to deliver the presentation word-for-word as we've written them. Feel free to adapt and adjust to fit your audience's interest and the time available.

How to Customize

The slide decks include several slides with editable areas where you can add the name of your community, highlight local challenges and opportunities, insert action steps to be taken, and create a call to action for your audience.

In this folder, you will find slides provided in three formats to allow for easy customization and flexible presentations using a variety of available technology.

Microsoft PowerPoint

If you have Microsoft PowerPoint installed on your computer, you can click on the enclosed .PPT file to open the PowerPoint version of your presentation and begin customizing. Talking points for each slide are included in the notes field, which you can open by clicking on 'Notes' under the 'View' tab in PowerPoint.

Google Slides

Google Slides are accessible to anyone with an internet connection and Google account. If you don't have presentation software installed on your computer, simply follow this link to access the Google Slides. Right click on the Google Slides presentation of your choice and select 'Make a Copy' to generate your own version that you can save and begin customizing.

Adobe PDF

We have also included a PDF version if you would like an option easy to browse on a tablet, though this version is not customizable.

The world is changing.
Education needs to change with it.
Your community can lead the way.

How are you using the Advocacy Kit?

Let us know how you're using the advocacy kit to start a movement to remake learning in your community. Share your feedback so we can improve the Advocacy Kit.

- Tweet at us @remakelearning
- Email us at playbook@sproutfund.org
- Call us at 412-325-0646

Visit playbook.remakelearning.org to see the latest release and access more resources.